1. What is this product?

Type

An Over the Counter (OTC) derivative contract – Cross Currency Swap

Objectives

Cross Currency Swaps are used for managing interest rate and foreign exchange risks.

A Cross Currency Swap is an agreement between two contracting parties (client/UniCredit Bank Czech Republic and Slovakia, a.s.) to exchange interest payments in two different currencies during the contractually agreed term. The agreed notional amounts of these currencies are exchanged optionally at the start date, and mandatory either in installments during the term or at the maturity of the swap. The interest payments are calculated on the notional amounts in the two currencies. The interest payments are exchanged at certain agreed dates. Terms of up to ten years are customary. The term of this agreement is divided into individual interest periods.

The following combinations for the exchange of the interest payments are possible: fixed versus fixed interest payments, floating versus floating interest payments and fixed versus floating interest payments. Any fixed interest rate is determined when the contracting parties enter into the swap. Any floating interest rate is based on a reference rate (if applicable plus a spread) in the respective currency (e.g. EURIBOR, USD-LIBOR). A reference rate is reset two banking days before the start of a respective interest period. Any reference rate with applicable periods (e.g. 3 month EURIBOR, 3 month USD-LIBOR) can be selected as base for the floating interest payments. If the floating interest rate and/or the fixed interest rate is negative, the direction of the respective interest payment changes.

Sample product terms are set out below and are based on legally predefined or realistic assumptions and may not match your specific contract details.

2. What are the risks and what could I get in return?

Risk Indicator

The summary risk indicator is a guide to the level of risk of this product compared to other products. It shows how likely it is that the product will lose money because of movements in the markets or because we are not able to pay you.

We have classified this product as 7 out of 7, which is the highest risk class.

Be aware of currency risk. You will pay and/or receive payments in a different currency, so the final return you will get depends on the exchange rate between the two currencies. This risk is not considered in the indicator shown above.

In some circumstances you may be required to make payments to pay for losses. The total loss you may incur may be significant.

This product does not include any protection from future market performance so you could incur significant losses.

The scenarios presented are an estimate of future performance based on evidence from the past on how the value of this investment varies, and are not an exact indicator. What you get or pay will vary depending on how the market performs and how long you keep the product.

The stress scenario shows what you might get back or pay in extreme market circumstances, and it does not take into account the situation where we are not able to pay you.

The figures shown include all the costs of the product itself, but may not include all the costs that you pay to your advisor or distributor. The figures do not take into account your personal tax situation, which may also affect how much you get back or pay.

3. What happens if UniCredit Bank Czech Republic and Slovakia, a.s. is unable to pay out?

Counterparties of derivative transactions are exposed to the risk that UniCredit Bank Czech Republic and Slovakia, a.s. becomes unable to discharge its obligations under the transaction, for example in the case of an insolvency (inability to pay or overindebtedness) or in the case resolution measures are taken by an authority against the credit institution. Such a decision to take resolution measures can, for example, be taken if the assets of the institution are less than its liabilities, where it is unable or will, in the near future, be unable to pay its debts or other liabilities as they fall due, or where it requires extraordinary public financial support. Where resolution measures are taken, the competent resolution authority can decide on an early termination of the derivative transaction. In the case such early termination results in a claim of the counterparty against the credit institution, the decision of the resolution authority can lead to a partial or complete reduction of the principal amount of this claim or in a conversion of this claim in to equity (shares or other types of equity).

If UniCredit Bank Czech Republic and Slovakia, a.s. does not fulfil its obligations connected with the product or is unable to pay, you can lose part of or the full payout or can suffer an unlimited loss. This product is not protected by any deposit guarantee scheme, legal or otherwise, or any other type of guarantee.
